

SHIPPING POLICY

Due to the nature of HeyBert T-shirts being hand tailored and/or dyed to each other - t-shirts carry a dispatch time of up to 14 working days. Once dispatched delays may be applicable, including but not limited to, weather, public holidays, customs delays, or stock/supplier delays.

DOMESTIC

All domestic orders will be shipped via Royal Mail, and dependent on the service you select at checkout. Free delivery is available of orders over £40 and £80 for international customers. Please allow 14 working days from the date of fulfilment status before querying a delivery. Delivery times do not include Sundays and public holidays.

INTERNATIONAL

Customers are responsible for any international customs/tariff fees as these are not included in the shipping price - this not includes EU customers due to recent changes in importation laws. The shipping courier will request collection once the package enters the country. Please contact your local customs office for more information regarding customs, tariffs, and duty fees. Please contact us if you require more details regarding shipping information for your specific country.